

Clinical Exchange Orders and Results

Clean orders, quick results.

Optum Clinical Exchange Orders and Results quickly connects laboratories and ancillary services to the provider offices they serve, producing clean orders and satisfied physicians. Results and reports are delivered back to provider offices streamlining workflow and reducing manual effort.

Our Clinical Exchange solutions are designed to work within existing infrastructure to reduce potential financial and operational risks. Together, our solutions electronically deliver more than 50 million results and clinical reports on our Clinical Exchange, as well as over thirteen million orders.

Improve efficiency

Clinical Exchange Orders and Results integrates the results of laboratory or ancillary service providers into your ordering process. This streamlines the workflow and alleviates the need for paper-based manual work. By removing these obstacles, orders are immediately ready to process and bill upon receipt.

Additionally, getting the order right the first time eliminates phone calls to your office to gather clinical or financial information that is often overlooked or missed in paper-based processes.

Streamline workflow

With the Clinical Exchange, you can electronically place orders and deliver results within the existing system and workflow you're accustomed to using. As a result, you can increase the efficiency of your office stay, and more fully leverage the investment you've made in your existing patient-centric records.

Drive outcomes

Regardless of which laboratory or ancillary service provider you order from, Orders and Results lets you track orders by status and receive all the commensurate results in a way that seamlessly integrates with your EHR. Our clinical network can focus results cohesively in your existing EHR workflow, allowing you to manage patient outcomes based on data from all of your diagnostic providers.

Features

- Easy to use ordering solution for multiple diagnostic providers
- Integrated rules that help ensure orders are correct the first time
- Online directory of services available from participating service providers
- Automated results routed to your EHR
- AutoPrint automated printing available

By streamlining processes and integrating the rules of all stakeholders, Orders and Results lets you process and bill orders
